

TIMELESS SHADES OF GREY

FORSBERG FORM ~ Samples from the Collection

The grandfather clock URBILD have become something of a classic in Swedish concrete design. FORSBERG FORM is now releasing more products in the same spirit. This time in collaboration with the designers at KVARNEN STUDIO.

Apart from TIDVIS, the sequel to Urbild, there will also be TIDVIS VÄGG, a wall mounted version in ash and concrete. Moreover, a dining table called SKÄRVA for 6–12 people with a frame of ash wood and table tops of concrete, a material that has become Forsberg Forms hallmark.

“The interest in the grandfather clock has made the concrete gain a place among other classic crafts materials.” said Johan Forsberg, founder of Forsberg Form. “Through the design, concrete has made a long journey from our industrial heritage into our living rooms. The aim of the new products is to continue that journey.”

Forsberg Form has devoted greatly to research in concrete properties and on finding the correct methods for the material. The products are cast by hand, one by one, and requires great craftsmanship. Although the pieces can weigh up to 100 kg, ingredients are measured in tens of grams. The concrete is produced by a carefully-weighted mixture of sand from the Öresund Strait, Vätterns beaches and granite from Tagene in Bohuslän. It's the various compositions of ballast in the concrete that gives the infinite shades of gray in the final product.

ABOUT FORSBERG FORM

Forsberg Form design and manufacture interior fittings and furniture in concrete for public and private spaces. With the ambition to develop craftsmanship and design within the concrete casting they create timeless objects of desire that shall give its owner a long-term delight. Forsberg Form is operated and owned by Johan Forsberg. The company started as a hobby project 15 years ago and is at present one of Sweden's foremost players in its field. All manufacturing takes place in Gothenburg but the products are represented on galleries, embassies and in living rooms around the world.
